NICE ACTION

Smooth.

That's the look and the feel you get from Braun's new Action Line shaver.

New Action Line features the unbeatable 3 position performance system.

Position 1 shaves you close; position 2 handles those awkward long bristles; position 3 is a long hair trimmer to give you total control for your sideburns.

And like all Braun shavers, Action Line is designed to perform. And that's something even your best friends will tell you.

CARGO OF DEATH

I'VE BEDDED TH

A 52 year old out patient at a West Midlands psychiatric hospital has spilled the beans on her steamy affairs with the saucy stars of the TV puppet shows.

For the last 25 years Dulcie Bagshaw claims to have lived a sordid life as a TV puppet groupie, jumping in and out of bed with some of the biggest names in children's television.

HORNY

Here, for the first time, she blows the lid clean off the horny, porny puppets who millions of innocent kids watch on TV every day.

RANDY

"Kids love TV shows like Rainbow, The Wombles and Bill & Ben. But if their parents could see what I have seen, they'd switch off in disgust.

PAUL

My first experience with a TV puppet came when I was only 14. I had been to the theatre to watch a stage version of The Sooty Show. Afterwards a group of us went backstage to get autographs. Somehow I ended up alone in Sooty's dressing room.

NANETTE

Sooty offered me a drink. I don't know what it was, but I was soon feeling dizzy. The next thing I knew Sooty was standing naked in front of me, holding his magic wand. I'll never forget the words he spoke. "Izzy wizzy, let's get busy".

SOOTY

That evening I had gone to see the Sooty show as a child. But when I awoke the next morning in Sooty's hotel room, I was a woman. I had bitten the forbidden fruit of sex with TV puppets, and now I wanted more. Over the next ten years I must have slept with over a hundred TV puppets. I wasn't fussy. Life became one long party, an endless whirl of late nights, drink and TV puppets.

You name them, I slept with them. Bill and Ben, The Woodentops, The Clangers, Orville the Duck, Joe 90. The list is endless. TV puppets came and went. The affairs were purely physical, strictly no strings attached. Until the day I met Basil Brush.

BASIL

Basil was a joy to be with. He used to love to fondle my "bum bum" as he called it, and he couldn't keep his foxy fingers of my brush. But he soon became obsessed with me, and even began following me around.

SYBIL

In the end we had a dreadful scene in a restaurant. I remember he was sitting on the bar. He was screaming and shouting, and he'd even threatened to kill himself if I didn't come back to him. Eventually Rodney Bewes arrived and took him home. I never saw Basil again after that.

SAD

I was sad to see the end of Rainbow. That show meant a lot to me. More than you could imagine. For I had got to know Bungle, Zippy and George intimately during a long and torrid affair which had lasted many years. I loved all three of them - on one occasion all at once.

It was a hot and sticky summer's evening, but I had no idea just how hot and sticky I was going to get as I made my way to the Rainbow dressing room at the BBC Television Centre in West London. I'd been invited back for drinks with the Rainbow puppets after a chance meeting with Zippy in a cocktail bar. When I arrived I could tell straight away that all three TV puppets had already had quite a lot to drink.

DIAMOND

I was feeling hot and horny so I stripped off down to my bra and knickers and stretched out on the settee. Next thing I knew Zippy had undone his zip and was licking his lips. Bungle and George needed no more encouragement and soon both were as naked as I was.

HATHAWAY

Before long Zippy and George were fondling my heaving breasts while Bungle the bear took me roughly from behind. I climaxed again and again until I almost passed out. Then Zippy took over while George, the pink hippopotamus, paid special attention to my love buttons. Just when I thought I could come no more, Zippy exploded inside of me, taking me to heights of ecstasy that before I had only ever dreamed of.

ATTENTION

I had never really paid any attention to Ray Allan's puppet Lord Charles. He didn't strike me as being my type. Until one day we met in the lift at Thames TV. Ray was afraid of lifts, so he took the stairs up to the top floor.

ATEASE

As the doors of the lift slid closed I found myself alone with Lord Charles. What happened next took me by surprise. As the lift began to move, Lord Charles suddenly pressed the 'stop' button, and it shuddered to a halt, throwing me into his arms.

LIPS

A strange force seemed to draw our lips together, and as we kissed passionately I felt a small wooden hand slip into my blouse and expertly undo my bra, which slid down around my ankles.

AROUSED

I could feel that Lord Charles was already aroused. His bulging manhood was practically bursting out of his unconquered Thunderbird pilot, wrapped in a tender embrace... with Brains!

TEBBIT

I'm not prepared to name that puppet, suffice to say that the only 'bird' he had eyes for was Thunderbird 4.

COOK

Mind you, I have nothing against gay TV puppets. In fact, one of my most fulfilling sexual experiences took place with a female puppet - Lady Penelope.

WAITER

She had offered me a lift into town in her big, pink car. As we were driving along Parker pressed a button and curtains automatically closed around the windows. We were alone. Suddenly Lady Penelope dabbed her stiff, plastic hand on my thigh.

MAITRE D'

At first I was repulsed. This was a woman TV puppet touching me. But slowly my fear began to subside, and waves of pleasure began to wash over me. Penelope's plastic fingers began to awaken in me feelings that I didn't know were there. It was my first time with a woman TV puppet, but Lady Penelope was able to please me in a way that only a woman could.

THOMAS

I had always fancied Thomas the Tank Engine, but I had never dreamt that I might one day get the opportunity to sleep with him. That was until I met the Fat Controller at a TV puppet party to celebrate Lamb Chop's birthday. The Fat Controller invited me to come and visit Thomas and his friends on the Island of Sodor. I didn't need asking twice!

SHY

When I first met Thomas he was shy, not at all like I'd expected him to be. One day he'd been shunting trucks at the big station when he asked me if I wanted to come for a ride along his branch line. I was up in his cab like a shot!

OIL

After a few miles he stopped in a siding and we began to chat. Eventually the subject got on to sex, and to my surprise Thomas admitted to me that he had never been with a woman before.

MILK

I took this as my signal to pull off, and slowly began to slide down his zip and gently slip off his jeans. He was already aroused. I have never seen such a magnificent train's cock. I almost passed out. It was easily eleven inches in length, and my fingers could barely touch around it's massive girth.

BUTTER

We made passionate love for what seemed like an eternity. Thomas puffed and panted and blew his whistle as he shunted his load in and out of my love tunnel. Then suddenly I became aware of somebody watching us.

CHEESE

Sure enough, I looked up to see Gordon, Edward and James the red engine had stopped nearby and were watching us. That turned me on even more. I beckoned them over and invited them to join in. They didn't need asking twice, I can tell you.

YOGHURT

I must have passed out, but the next thing I remember was waking up to see Thomas, Gordon, Henry and James all pulling the biggest train you have ever seen.

CREAM

I lost count of the number of orgasms I had as the TV puppet railway engines continued to take me in turn for what seemed like an eternity. Then the helicopter joined in.

DEREK AND THE DOMINOES

I must have passed out again, because when I awoke I was in a mental hospital, with electrodes on my head.

Next week: How I fell pregnant to Noggin the Nog, and the Clangers give me my first weightless orgasm in space. And Great Uncle Bulgaria gives me one up the shitter.

small, pinstriped trousers. I struggled frantically to release it, until suddenly it sprang forth, like a coiled python.

ENORMOUS

It was that enormous I almost passed out. It was the biggest wooden penis I had ever seen. I simply had to have it inside me. I was already sopping wet as, with one powerful stroke of his 'silly arse', he forced it into me. My earth shattering climax was over in seconds; ecstasy exploding through my veins.

LUST

That day Lord Charles and I abandoned ourselves to sexual lust, pure and simple. Neither of us said a word. Neither of us have spoken about it since, and neither of us ever will.

CONQUEST

There was one sexual conquest that I never achieved. I had already slept with four of the five Tracey brothers out of Thunderbirds. And their equipment had been just as impressive as anything that they used on their International Rescue missions, I can tell you! But there was one Tracey brother who had always eluded my grasp.

WISDOM

I began to wonder whether I was losing my touch, until one night I was staying on Tracey Island when I heard the sound of laughter and splashing coming from the swimming pool. I crept out, and there in the moonlight was my

THE GODS

"The other day I played chess with Mr Kipling. What an exceedingly good chess set, I mused".

For over a hundred years families have enjoyed Mr Kipling's cakes. Now, the excellence of those cakes has been captured for ever in a superb commemorative chess set, crafted in the finest marble and alabaster, a fitting tribute to the man and his cakes.

To Cherish and enjoy

Every piece in this set has been expertly sculpted and detailed making it a pleasure to pick up, and a joy to behold. This is truly a chess set to cherish and enjoy. A chess set that Mr Kipling himself would be proud to own. The board is in itself a work of art. Hand carved from carefully selected pieces of former Brazilian rain forest, this immaculate hardwood base doubles as a carrying case and provides a fitting home for these unique cake chess pieces.

Accompanying the set is a fascinating booklet that charts the history of Mr Kipling cakes, and introduces each piece in turn. From the Bramley Apple Pie pawns, obediently standing in line, ready to make the greatest sacrifice a Kipling cake can make. To the gallant knights, hewn in the form of the classic Jam Tart. Ever popular, ever true. A battle proud warrior, fit to lead his army of courageous cakes. Each piece an individual cake, with its own qualities, its own strengths. Together they form an invincible army of cake.

Affordably low price

The Mister Kipling Cake Chess Set is available exclusively by subscription from the Trebor Mint. Subscribers will receive one piece each month at an affordably low price of only £96.50. What's more, the board and information booklet are yours free, for a one off payment of only £29.99.

THE MR KIPLING CHESS SET

Magnificently detailed, fine marble and alabaster sculptures. Capturing for all eternity the beauty and elegance of Mr Kipling's cakes.

This will be a limited edition set, an heirloom quality work of art that is guaranteed to appreciate in value with the passage of years, and we therefore urge you to subscribe NOW to avoid disappointment.

This is a rare opportunity to own a chess set that will not only excite devotees of the game, but also one that will delight anyone interested in Mr Kipling's cakes.

The King - represented by the Bakewell Slice, truly the ruler of the cake Kingdom. A masterpiece among Mr Kipling cakes. Standing proud behind a shield of icing, he sits atop his double throne, crafted in the powerful image of the foil cake cup. Majestically the King surveys his army.

Shown smaller than actual size.

The Bishop. With deserved respect our artist has chosen to represent this piece with the Pudding Choc. Sitting either side of his King and Queen, the Bishop, resplendent in his fluted paper case, brings dignity and humanity to the game.

The Rook. Sturdy and solid, he signifies strength, as represented by Mr Kipling's Jaffa Finger. One of the most popular of Mr Kipling's cakes, the detailing of this piece simply has to be seen to be believed.

MR KIPLING CHESS SET

Please register my subscription for the Mister Kipling Cake 52 piece (plus 16 spares) chess set, crafted from fine marble, etc. As a subscriber, I will receive free of charge, the chessboard and booklet, for only £29.99. I understand you will despatch one piece per month at a price of £96.50. If for any reason I am not satisfied I may return the piece away. I may also write attempt to cancel my subscription at any time.

I hereby declare that I have not calculated how much this will eventually cost me. Furthermore I understand that you will in all probability increase the price of each piece threefold within 12 months of me setting out upon this foolhardy and expensive venture, and I also understand that by the time I've only got six more pieces to go you will charge what the bloody hell you like and I will probably lose my house.

Please invoice me/charge my credit card monthly. I understand that if payments are not made promptly and in full I will receive visits from a hairy member of your credit control department. And his dog. I also understand that you will furnish all and sundry with my name and address, and I will be inundated with similar crapes, offers which as a glibble food who already has two ghed's worth of plates, porcelain dolls and 24 clear gold spoons upon the and sitting on my marble piece. I will find it hard to refuse. Hang on a minute. I think there's a bullet coming through the window. However, ticking this box means we feel slightly better. ☐

On February the 14th Valentine's Day will be here again, and thousands of hopeful lonely hearts up and down the country will be sending cards and flowers.

As always, they'll be hoping that this year Cupid's arrow will strike, and their Valentine will fall for them. For men sending a Valentine can be a pretty expensive business, with cards alone costing upwards of a pound, and postage to pay on top of that. And roses can cost anything up to £3 each as greedy florists cash in on the romantic mood.

So it pays to stop and consider for a moment – is she the sort of girl who's going to make it worth your while? Or are you wasting time and money barking up the wrong tree.

Here's a simple questionnaire to help you judge for yourself. For each question simply choose the answer (a), (b) or (c) which best suits her. Then tot up your score and all will be revealed!

1. She has planned to go out for a drink with a few friends. Suddenly, she realises she doesn't have any clean knickers to wear. The taxi is waiting at the door. What would she do?

- (a) Cancel the taxi and stay at home for the evening instead.
(b) Sling on a dirty pair. It's only for one night, and no-one's going to notice.
(c) Go out wearing a short skirt, high heels and no knickers at all.

2. At the end of a night out she is about to board the last bus home when she suddenly realises she has no money left. What would she do?

- Ring her father and ask him to come and collect her.
- Walk home, convincing herself the exercise will do her good.
- Offer to sit on the driver's knee, and promise him a bumpy ride if he lets her off with the fare.

3. What sort of school did she go to?

- (a) A mixed secondary modern school.
(b) A posh school, where they play hockey and wear hats.
(c) A Roman Catholic, girls only Convent School, where all the teachers are nuns and the world 'boys' is not allowed.

4. Which subjects interested her most at school?

- (a) Difficult things like Latin, Sciences or English Literature.
(b) The usual subjects. Cookery, needlework and netball.
(c) Pulling off boys behind the bike sheds.

5. When did she leave school?

- (a) Not until the age of 21, after completing a swotty career at University.
(b) After taking her 'O' levels, aged 16 or 17.
(c) At the age of 14 after setting up home with the maths teacher.

6. If she had the choice of these three holidays, which one would she prefer?

- (a) A two week brass rubbing holiday in Lincolnshire, spent cycling around interesting churches and cathedrals in the area.
(b) A couple of weeks camping in France.
(c) A raunchy, booze soaked Club 18 to 30 topless 'sun, sea, sand and sex' orgy style holiday in Ibiza.

7. How do you think she spends her typical Sunday morning?

- (a) Going to church with the family, then perhaps helping dad wash the car.

- (b) Lazing around the house, watching telly or listening to records.
(c) Sleeping off a stinking hangover before getting up at midday and going home.

8. If your Valentine was given a Marks & Spencer gift voucher to the value of £25, how would she spend it?

- (a) On a selection of thermal underwear, or a pair of sensible shoes.
(b) On a brightly coloured cardigan, or a nice but plain nightie.
(c) On a pair of red nylon split crotch panties and a large tub of Vaseline. And a cucumber.

9. If she walked into the pub and you offered her a drink, what would she have?

- (a) A fruit juice – she never touches alcohol.
(b) Just a half of lager.
(c) Nothing. She's already drunk half a bottle of vodka in the phone box outside just before she came in.

10. What sort of film would she most like to go and see?

- (a) A real slushy romance, like 'Gone With The Wind'. Or perhaps 'The Sound of Music'.
(b) An all action thriller, like 'Terminator', or maybe 'Fatal Attraction'.
(c) A filthy 'X' certificate French porno movie in a seedy cinema with plenty of room in the back row for her to perform various lurid sex acts.

11. In a restaurant she orders sausage and mash but when the food arrives she notices that the chef has accidentally put cheese sauce on the end of her sausage. What would she do?

- (a) Refuse to touch it until it had been returned to the kitchen and the offending sauce removed.
(b) Simply ignore it, and enjoy her meal.
(c) Take the sausage in her hand and slowly lick the sauce off with her extended tongue.

12. She's doing a spot of decorating when she accidentally gets a bit of wallpaper paste in her mouth. What would her reaction be?

- (a) She'd be horrified, would spit it out immediately, and be sick.
(b) She wouldn't be too concerned, and would simply spit it back into the paste bucket.
(c) She would swallow it, then go over to the bucket and rub some more on her tits.

How did she do?

Now add up your Valentine's score and see how she did. Award no points for each answer (a), 2 points for a (b) and 3 for a (c).

15 or less: A dismal score. You'll get nowt off this bird.

16 to 29: Average: Your bird falls into a grey area.

30 or over: Roses are red, violets are blue. This bird's a go-er, she'll do it for you! Congratulations, you've picked a winner. A cheap card or a tatty flower delivered on the 14th should be all you need to access her pants.

CARS OF THE STARS FACE TOUGH NEW TEST

By our Motoring Correspondent
Mark Two-Cortina

Car star David Bowie did a 'Julie Andrews' - he fled to Switzerland to avoid the new MoT test.

Many top showbusiness celebrities will be facing their toughest test this year - when they take their cars in for an MoT.

For new Ministry of Transport rules mean that from January 1993 the MoT test will be tougher than ever before, with new regulations governing wind-screens, bodywork and rear number plates.

CARS

And the new rules could cause celebrity chaos among stars whose cars are their only means of transport. For they may find that their vehicles are no longer up to the required standard.

KNACK

A spokesman for the Ministry of Transport yesterday confirmed that the stars could not expect an easy ride from garage mechanics. "There are a series of strict tests which all vehicles undergoing an MoT must pass, regardless of who owns the vehicle", we were told.

BANGLES

All cars which are more than three years old must renew their MoT certificate annually. The current test fee is £24, but failure could cost the stars a fortune, with expensive repair bills and further test fees to pay before their vehicles can be declared road worthy.

EAR RINGS

We spoke to some of the stars whose cars will be undergoing the new tough test and asked them for their reactions to the new rules. Drummer, singer, actor and potential slap head PHIL COLLINS was unable to hide his obvious concern about the new test. "I like old cars. The newest one I've got is a 7 year old BMW. This could mean a major headache for me", he told us. "I'm especially worried about my old Ford Popular, as it doesn't have a rear number plate light".

Miami Sound Machine GLORIA ESTEFAN was surprised to hear about the new MoT test. "I'd never heard of an MoT before", the Cuban born beauty told us. "I have three cars - a Mercedes, a Rolls Royce and a Brazilian sports car. But fortunately I won't be affected by the new regulations, as I live in America", she said.

DAVID BOWIE acted fast to avoid his twelve year old Volvo having to pass the new test. "My manager warned me about this new test, and so I moved my car to Switzerland where MoT testing is much less strict. Otherwise I'd have had to spend a fortune on bodywork repairs", said the silken voiced, 80-a-day songster whose hits include 'The Laughing Policeman' and 'Spiders on Mars'.

Pop twins MARK and LEW GOSS out of Bros live life in the showbusiness fast lane, driving fast cars and having sex with women when they aren't appearing on Top Of The Pops. The new MoT test holds no fears for them. "We buy new sports cars more or less every week, and have usually crashed them within a couple of days, so we never need to take an MoT test", they told us.

MoT for Ph.D

We decided to find out for ourselves exactly what sort of problems the new MoT test would pose for the stars, so we took our ten year old car along to a local garage for a test, and told the mechanic that it belonged to TV botanist DAVID BELLAMY. Here are the results of the examination.

VERDICT:

FAILED

Our mechanic was far from happy with David Bellamy's car. "There's no way I could pass a car in this condition. Mr Bellamy would be driving round in a death trap. The worn tyres and brakes certainly need seeing to immediately. There's a good deal of work needs doing to this vehicle, and I'm afraid it's going to cost him. I'd be happy to give him a price, but I don't think I could make a start on it till next Wednesday. I could probably have it ready by the Friday.

MoT tests aren't 'popular' with pint sized singer Phil Collins. His ageing motor (right) has no rear number plate light.

Lay off the drink drivers

Why do police and magistrates always come down so hard on motorists who have accidents after they have been drinking. Clearly having had a few drinks a person's ability to drive is greatly reduced. So surely it is understandable when these people have the odd mishap. It is the sober motorists, who despite not drinking still manage to crash their cars, who the authorities ought to be clamping down on.

D. McLure
Arbroath

Isn't it about time we sorted out the sides for the next world war? I think Japan should be on our side this time, and Germany can have America, 'cos they tend to kill quite a few of our soldiers no matter which side they're on.

When in France the English should continue to drive on the left hand side of the road, providing they switch their hazard warning lights on and observe a maximum speed limit of 15 miles per hour. New tragedy rocks Queen

A new tragedy has hit rock group Queen.

Hot on the heels of the tragic death of singer Freddie Mercury, guitarist Brian May has spoken out for the first time about another disaster that has befallen the group.

CHILD

For rocker Brian has revealed that as a child he suffered from nits.

KENNY

Now 42 and living with a long time girlfriend Anita Dobson, the hair condition struck Brian when he was eleven. "It was a nightmare. I had to go and see the school nurse. She gave me some powder for it, and within a couple of days it had cleared up", May has told close friends. But although the hair lice have gone, May must forever live his life in the shadow of nits.

GLITTER BAND

"It's difficult for Brian, because he knows that he could, one day, get nits again", a source close to the group confided yesterday.

Monkey business pictures pose constitutional crisis for Palace

DI IN 'ZOO MONKEY BLOW JOB' SHOCKER

The vicious publicity battle which has been raging between the Prince of Wales and his embittered wife Princess Di took a sordid turn today when an Australian magazine published explicit photographs which it alleges show the Princess having oral sex with a monkey in a zoo.

The blurry pictures, taken from a considerable distance with a telephoto lens, were sent to the New South Wales offices of Australian magazine 'Viz'. They are believed to have been sent by a close colleague of Prince Charles, and are the latest attempt by the Prince of Wales to undermine his wife's popularity.

BITTER

In a bitter public feud lasting several months the Royal rivals have traded stories with the press, each designed to damage the other's reputation. Di, it is alleged, with the help of her close allies, has leaked sensitive information to the tabloid press aimed at discrediting her husband and skuttling his chances of becoming King. Meanwhile Charles is believed to have orchestrated a similar campaign aimed at branding Diana a tramp and an unfit mother.

MILD

We were sent copies of the Monkeygate pictures as long ago as June 1991, but we declined the offer to publish them, refusing to be pawns in the bitter Royal slugging match between Charles and Di. Instead, we sent them to our wholly owned Australian subsidiary and suggested they publish them instead.

CAMILLA: Climbed tree for kinky love session with Charles

More FILTH on the Royals

HEAVY

Buckingham Palace yesterday claimed to have no knowledge of the pictures. "If Diana has sucked off a monkey, which wouldn't entirely surprise me, I wouldn't particularly want to see the pictures anyway", a spokesman for the Queen told us.

STOUT

But the signs are that Princess Di's camp are preparing to hit back with a major revelation about Prince Charles and his alleged mistress Camilla Parker Bowles. A private detective claiming to have been hired by Princess Di, last night offered us exclusive pictures which he claims were taken of Camilla and Charles at a polo meeting in 1990 - almost a year before the Monkeygate pictures broke. The detective, who refused to be named, claimed that his pictures showed Charles, Camilla and a polo pony in a compromising position.

TUBBY

"There's one great shot of Charles taking the pony from behind, while Camilla is up a tree pissing on them", he boasted.

OBESSE

As a family paper loyal to our Royal family we refuse to print such scandalous and filthy photographs. We handed the pictures, together with our dossier on the case, to the editor of the Australian 'Viz' magazine.

VIZ TOP TEN

Welcome to the new look, full colour Viz Top Ten, brought to you in association with Pronuptia & Youngs Formal Hire of Newbridge Street West, Newcastle.

Manageress Shelley Remington-Blaire has offered to smarten up some of the acts in the Viz chart by hiring them outfits from their wide range of formal attire. And that's an offer that this week's No. 1 Roy Chubby Brown could hardly refuse, because he looks ridiculous in his patchwork suit and leather helmet.

His latest video 'The Helmet's Last Stand' is his bluest yet, apparently, and we're highly recommending it as a favour to Polygram, who also do our videos.

We're giving away ten copies of the video in a special Chubby Brown Formal Wear competition. We want you to send us your picture of what you think Chubby would look like in formal evening attire. You could draw him in a dinner jacket and tie, or maybe wearing a kilt. Anyhow, Shelley Remington-Blaire will be asked to judge the competition, and the six best entries will each receive a copy of the tape. Send your pictures to Viz Top Ten Roy Chubby Brown Formal Wear Drawings Competition, P.O. Box 1PT, Newcastle upon Tyne, NE99 1PT. You must be aged 18 or over to enter, and drawings cannot be returned.

Andrew Tait has a horn he'd like to get rid of. He's devoted his No. 2 slot to an advertisement for his French horn which he is selling to finance his continuing appearances in the Top Ten. The instrument is an Alexander Large-Bore Model 101 (c. 1980). It's one previous owner was Principal Horn in the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and it is therefore quite probable that the instrument was used to play the famous horn solos on the soundtrack to the film Chariots Of Fire. Offers or enquiries should be made to Andrew at P.O. Box 04, 30 Clayton Road, Newcastle upon Tyne NE2 4RQ. Strictly no tyre kickers.

Wet The Funk at No. 4 are a 5 piece band who say someone is going to shoot them unless readers send £3 to Under The Thumb Management, 129 Nicholas Road, Chorlton-c-Hardy, Manchester M21 1LS. In return you will receive a copy of their No. 4 hit 'Funk U'. As you can see from this photograph they're attacker means business.

Mickey Taping are a zany three piece trio whose cassette '1992 - How was it for you?' is rapidly becoming outdated. They therefore suggest you buy a copy of the 60 minute comedy news review by sending £2.95 to them at P.O. Box 1629, Bournemouth, BH9 1YF.

the release of their new CD album 'Young Bucks In Fancy Shirts' with a gig at Joe Wilson's on Newbridge Street, Newcastle, opposite the Warner Brothers cinema, on Saturday 6th February. Showbusiness veteran Archie recently wrote the music for the Fat Slags video. Entry to the gig will be free for anyone carrying this comic, a Fat Slags video, and a copy of all Archie's record releases since 1977.

Finally, a mention for Putting Our House In Order, an extremely complicated national pop/charity project/event taking place in the week commencing 13th March to coincide with National Homeless Week. Various events are planned around the UK, focusing on the release of a single, a cover version of the Rolling Stones 'Gimme Shelter' recorded by 12 different artists. It'll be a bit like 'Feed The World', except there'll be 4 records instead of 1, and everyone will get to sing the whole thing. Or there'll be four people singing on each record. Or something like that.

Anyway, all the money goes to charity. And anyone wishing to help in anyway or seeking further information should contact the P.O.H.I.O. Office, Suite 22, 4th Floor, Pall Mall Deposit, 124-128 Barbican Street, London W10 6BL.

knickers in a twist after we called them the 'Koonoo Brothers' in our last issue. Anyway, they're back again at No. 8 with their tape, which is also called The Koonoo Brothers. It's available from 'The Temple', Tooting, 70 Vant Road, London SW17 8TJ, priced £2.50.

Police have warned motorists heading for The Adolescents gig at The Castle, Market Place, Doncaster on Thursday 25th March to set off early. Heavy traffic is expected as punk fans flock into the town to see the band's only South Yorkshire appearance that month. They reached No. 8 in the chart with their 'Yakatoa' EP.

DENIS HELIUM

If a face can paint a thousand ships, then why can't the stars paint a...

PICTURE OF THEMSELVES?

Painter man, painter man. Who will be a painter man?

That was the poignant question raised by Boney M in their 1979 top ten hit. And the answer would appear to be almost every star in showbusiness. For painting would appear to be the number one hobby of the stars of stage and screen.

SUCCESS

Over the years a great many celebrities have enjoyed considerable success in their alternative careers as artists, swapping movie cameras and make up for palette knives and paint. Rambo star Sylvester Stallone, Zorba the Greek star Anthony Quinn, Rolling Stone star Ron Wood, Rolf Harris and Wolf out of The Gladiators. The list is endless.

WIN A LUXURY 4-PIECE BATHROOM SUITE (EXCLUDING TAPS) WORTH £300!

So we decided to find out whether the stars of the TV sitcoms shared this amazing talent by asking six small screen comedy actors and actresses to paint a portrait of themselves, using only brushes and paint. And the results, printed here, are quite amazing.

PAINTERS

We want you to spot our celebrity painters, and the first person to correctly identify the six stars by looking at their portraits will win our fabulous prize: a beautiful four piece bathroom suite, featuring WC, hand basin, bath and bidet, worth over £300 (but not including taps). And there'll be Black & Decker power tools for three lucky runners-up.

Stars of screen and paintbrush Rolf Harris (above) and TV's Terminator Sylvester Stallone.

STAR GALLERY

1 Military man manages money, and also makes good use of a palette knife.

2 The English half of a comedy troupe makes fabulous use of her canvas.

3 Verging on Picasso, this one's obviously an old master himself.

4 Curly warty brushwork from a comedy veteran who's not long out of shorts.

5 Naive brushwork and gothic overtones from this man about the house who owned a restaurant called Robin's Nest. And married Tessa Wyatt.

6 She was Terry Scott's wife in Terry And June. And her surname is Whitfield.

QUEEN SCUTTLES FERGIE ON PORN VIDEO

Plans for a blockbusting ROYAL SEX VIDEO starring the Duchess of York have been TORPEDOED by the Queen.

'Fergie's Royal Guide To Having It Off' was set to earn the Duchess a staggering £10 MILLION through advance sales alone. But Fergie's plans were sunk yesterday when the Queen fired a Royal broadside, banning her daughter-in-law from appearing in the no holds barred steamy educational love film.

FORKED

If the video had gone ahead eager Royal watchers could have forked out £10.99 to see:

- NUDE Fergie, rolling around on a mattress.
- EXPLICIT love acts between the Duchess and a male model.

- OPEN displays of masturbation techniques.

- and pop shots.

Production of the red hot video was already well underway when the Queen attached limpet mines to its hull, fearing that the publicity such a tape would attract could damage the public image of the Royals. And Palace insiders believe the Queen will have no hesitation in blasting similar projects out of the water with depth charges.

KNIFED

"The Queen would indeed frown upon any member of the Royal family participating in a videotape record-

Porky and Bess in a flap over flap shots

ing which features explicit sexual acts", a Buckingham Palace spokesman told us yesterday.

GARROTED

The Duchess is no stranger to the Queen's naval gunpower. Several crew members were killed last year when an Exocet missile fired by the Queen struck Fergie aft of the poop deck after she had announced plans to appear naked in Penthouse magazine.

Boozing Britain pisses it up the wall

Britain stands head and shoulders above its EEC neighbours when it comes to pissing money up the wall, according to a report published this week.

Extensive research was carried out over a period of twelve months to compare the drinking habits of all the EEC member states. And the results reveal some interesting facts about our European neighbours. For it includes the following findings:

★ The FRENCH drink more wine than anyone else – an average of 3 bottles each per day. Yet they have the weakest bladders – going to the toilet on average every 18 minutes whilst they're on the pop.

★ The GERMANS are Europe's noisiest drinkers. The average male drinks an astonishing 11 pints of lager each day, but as a result the average German spends 17 minutes per morning farting loudly.

★ The IRISH drink more Guinness than any other country in Europe, bar Finland, where it always tastes much better.

★ The average British male spends £170 a week on alcohol, pissing an incredible 60% of their pay packet up the toilet wall.

We're offering a super prize to the Viz reader who pisses the most money up the wall in a week. All you have to do to enter is send in the completed form.

ENTRY

Your entry form must be authenticated by your pub landlord and accompanied by a recent pay slip. We will then work out which Viz reader spends the highest percentage of his or her income on drink.

FABULOUS

The lucky winner will receive a fabulous first prize – two hundred quid's worth of booze, on us. We will pay, direct to your local, £200 which will be credited to your slate. And six runners up will each receive a can of warm lager, shaken in the post.

PERSONS

Send your entries to the address on the form. This competition is open to persons aged 18 and over only. People who own pubs, work in pubs and friends or relatives of people who own or work in pubs may not enter. Competition closes 1st March 1993.

20 THINGS YOU NEVER KNEW ABOUT ROOFS

They're on houses and huts, sheds and shopping centres. Angry people hit them, sales go through them. And arseholes jump off them with parachutes.

Yes, they're roofs. And whether you love them or hate them, there's simply no ignoring them. But what do you really know about these amazing structures that form or cover the top of a building? Here's twenty things you probably never new about roofs...

1 A 'flat roof' is not necessarily the roof of a flat. It is in fact a new, horizontal style roof which either leaks or has puddles on it, which recently replaced the old fashioned, cumbersome 'pitched roofs' which had previously been used, and had protected buildings from the weather without any problems for several hundred years.

2 A 'roofer' is a shifty, suspicious looking character who occasionally appears at your door with a broken slate in his hand and claims that, despite visual evidence to the contrary, it has fallen off your roof.

3 Next thing you know he'll charge you £25 to lean a ladder on your house, climb up it and make a banging noise for ten minutes, before pissing off to the pub.

4 If you call a 'Thatcher' to come and mend your roof, don't expect a bitter former lady Prime Minister, her drunken husband or her half-wit son to turn up with a ladder. A thatcher is in fact a traditional craftsman who will attempt to repair leaks with clumps of straw.

5 If someone tells you that they've just spent a night 'on the tiles', they haven't necessarily slept on the roof. Unless they are a prisoner in one of Britain's overcrowded jails, in which case they very probably have, and the remains of the roof are probably lying in the exercise yard.

6 If the vicar asks his choir to 'raise the roof', he isn't trying to get building work done on the cheap. He's simply asking them to sing loudly.

7 If the vicar asks you to contribute to his 'steeple restoration fund', he is trying to get building work done on the cheap, by getting you to pay for it.

8 'So long as you've got a roof over your head', someone once said. But orthodox Jews may well disagree. Their religion dictates that they cannot have a roof over their heads on a Saturday, or something like that.

9 And they don't eat pork. Not even sausages.

10 Houses are built from the bottom, upwards, finishing with the roof. This is to allow for any inaccuracy in the height of the building. For if the roof was built first, a couple of inches too high, then it would leave a small gap at the bottom of the walls. The only exception is Australia where they build the roof first, and have Christmas Day in the middle of June.

11 Roofs are no strangers to the UK pop charts. In 1970 The Supremes climbed 'Up The Ladder To The Roof', reaching No. 6 in the Top Ten.

12 And more recently Lionel Richie was 'Dancing On The Ceiling', which was sort of similar.

13 Indeed, in another remarkable pop/roof tie-in, The Beatles hit record 'Let It Be' was recorded on a roof.

14 However, 'Fiddler On The Roof' was not a copy cat album by scruffy violinist Nigel Kennedy. It was in fact the hit musical in which that bloke with a beard called Toblerone or something sang that song that went "If I was a rich man, yaddie diddle diddle, yaddie diddle diddle dum. All day long I'd biddy biddy bum, if I was a wealthy man", etc.

15 People on 'That's Life' frequently claim that their dog can say "roof".

16 And "sausages".

17 Mountaineer Chris Bonington has on more than one occasion climbed to the 'roof of the world' - the Himalayan mountains. And he occasionally comes back with the same number of people he set out with.

18 Singer David Bowie's roof maintenance bills are enormous. That's because Dave has 3 roofs. One on each of his houses in Australia, Mustique and Switzerland.

19 In fact he's got 4 roofs, if you count the roof of his mouth, with which he has sung such hits as 'Alvin Stardust' and 'Space Odyssey'.

20 There is no cockney rhyming slang expression for roof. That's because 'roof', along with 'orange' and 'motorbike', are the only three words in the English language with which no other word rhymes. In fact, the Oxford English Dictionary have offered a £10,000 reward to anyone who can think of a word that rhymes with roof. If you think you know one, send it to The Oxford English Dictionary, Roof Rhyme £10,000 Reward Department, Oxford University Press, Horse Hoof Lane, Oxford. Please mark your envelope 'I've thought of a word that rhymes with roof'.

SPENDER

ALARM CLOCK

Only one man stands between good and evil in the Newcastle area. Mean and moody, he's the tough guy TV cop with a big flat nose who always bends the rules. But he gets results. And he never leaves a stone unturned. And he can run faster than a train.

Yes, get set for round-the-clock action as TV's Spender brings his unorthodox detective style to YOUR bedside table, thanks to this FREE Spender alarm clock. Wake up every day to a thrilling police chase through the Newcastle area. Simply set your Spender alarm, wind it up and hey presto! The chase is on! And all you need to assemble your free alarm clock is a pair of scissors, some glue, and an alarm clock.

INSTRUCTIONS

Remove hands from clock and glue 'Spender' clockface over existing clockface. Cut out and glue 'Spender', 'villain' and 'Spender's Car' to the hour, minute and alarm hands respectively. Reassemble clock, wind up and go to sleep.
